LAST GOVERNESS OF HAWAII.

Death of Mrs. John T. Baker Announced to Have Taken Place.

By the steamer Mauna Loa which arrived yesterday morning word was received of the death of ex-Governess Ululani, wife of the Hon Jno T Baker, at her husband's ranch at Mahiki, near Waimea, in Hamakua, Hawaii, which occurred on Sunday afternoon after a prolonged illness, tuberculosis being the cause. She was 55 years of age at her demise.

Deceased was, during the time of the monarchy, one of the best known Hawaiian women. Being as she was a chiefess of very high rank, she was continually associated with the aliis. Recognizing her high standing King Kalakaua appointed her Governess of Hawaii in 1886 and while in office, ruled her subjects well. She was the very last governess of the Big Island. Ululani succeeded Princess Kekaulike, the mother of Princess David Kawananakoa and Jonah Kalani'opule, in the position of governess.

During her Governorship her husband was the Sheriff of the Island, but he was never Governor. It was his cousin, the late Major Robert Hoapili Baker, who was, of the Island of Maui. Sol L. Peleobolani, of this city, the one who put in a claim before the Fire Claims Commission for a feather cloak lost in the pague conflagration of January 20, 1900, is her first cousin. She never bore any children to her husband.

THE INDEPENDENT extends to her bereaved husband and his niece, who has been her constant companion for many years past, its most sincere sympathy and condolence.

A Hot Shot.

Following is an extract from a letter which J D Avery has sent to each member of the Republican Territorial Central Committee, of which he is assistant secretary:

"Senator Carter is attempting to run the party in the same high handed fashion in which he attempted to run the Senate last year. Last Saturday night for nearly two hours he tried to force the Central Committee (like the proverbial 'eleven obstinate jurors') to come to his views of finance. When the vote was taken he alone voted against the motion to grant the $100, but meantime he had stirred up Senator Achi, chairman of the Fifth District Republican Committee, to very bitter and personal remarks and even drew from Geo F Renton a sarcastic allusion in open committee to the aspirations of Senator George R Carter for the Governorship. Unless his course is promptly checked by the committee, I venture no rash prediction in saying nor is it an opinion held by me exclusively, that Senator Carter will wreck the party before November 4th."

J D Avery complains of steps being wrongfully taken to abolish his position and duties as assistant secretary.—Mirror.

On Campaign Tour of Hawaii.

By the steamer Claudine yesterday afternoon Delegate Wilcox, accompanied by Senator D Kalanokalanui and D Kalanokalanui J. left on his last campaign tour around the big island of Hawaii. They will land at Kawaihae, going overland to Waimea into Waipio valley, where they expect Candidates Palmer P Woods, S K Pua and others. After leaving the Kohala and Hamakua Districts, they will visit the Hilo and Puna Districts, later on visiting the Kau and Kona Districts.

The schooner Julia E. Whalen, Capt. Harris, was loaded right down to the limit when she sailed for Hilo yesterday afternoon on her first trip in the island trade. The Chas. Levi Woodbury is now being overhauled and men were engaged on her doing the work yesterday.

Some Fithy Reflections

OF

A Bachelor Girl.

The improper study of mankind is man.

The hardest career for a woman is to find a husband with a career.

Happiness depends so absolutely upon ourselves that it is the one thing we can never be sure of.

Many persons are never quite reverent except when they speak of money.

Most men's kisses are so cheap that they do well to make their gift expensive.

Good women spend years to build up in a man what a bad woman overthrows in a day.

Many men regard life as an alternate round of high jinks and hygiene.

Men call on some women to strengthen their likes and on others to strengthen their dislikes.

Matchmaking is left to the women because men know too much about men to be willing to take any chances.

Diplomats have in rely to manage men, but women manage diplomats.

"Love is for the individual" Where man is concerned the individual is always him self.

No other woman is justified in knowing quite so much about men as a clever old maid.

The world of fashion works hard to exhaust all the pleasure of a thing before the rest of the world become aware of its existence.

If respectability could be relied upon of its monotony it would no longer be respectable.

When a girl begins to treat a man especially well he may be sure it is because of some other man.

Men are safe in calling themselves the stronger sex, for most women are too weak to contradict them.

A man loves a woman because she seems different from every other woman he has known, without reflecting that she, too, may have known those women.

Daring indiscretions of speech and conduct are the only sure signs of perfect respectability nowadays.

It is only with some girls that chaperons are necessary, and they are the girls who don't have them.

In order to be intellectual it is only necessary to sacrifice one's general intelligence.

A man makes his place among men by his work; among women by his pleasures.

If a woman is to study it should be with a man. She will not learn much of the subject, but may strike an average by learning a great deal too much of the man.

The wisdom of the world is bitterness, and never a woman yet learned wisdom except through a knowledge of men.

Men who don't understand women should comfort themselves with the fact that, next to man, woman is the greatest mystery in the world to her self.—Harriet Rice in N. Y. Herald.

Died.

M BRYDE—At her home on Green street, Honolulu, at 8 o'clock in the evening, October 6, 1902, of heart failure due to a cold contracted about ten days before, Mrs. A. D. McBryde, aged 26 years.
